Austin wants to be sheriff

Look out Tom Tramel, there may be a future sheriff in town.

Five-year-old George Jarvis Austin attends the Kindergarten Center and he wants to be a police officer or a sheriff when he grows up.

Son of Charlotte Hall-Austin, George has begun his school career with a positive attitude. "George is an enthusiastic learner and he is a well-liked and caring person," says one of his teachers.

His interests include T-ball and books, especially the Berenstain Bears series.

According to Principal Earl Watts, "George is a very smart child. He is totally involved in all classroom activities and loves school. With George's ability, I think he can accomplish his goals in life."

SENATE GOVERNANCE & FINANCE COMMITTEE
Senator Lois Wolk, Chair

BILL NO: AB 458
AUTHOR: Wieckowski
VERSION: 2/19/13
CONSULTANT: Austin

HEARING: 8/14/13
FISCAL: Yes
TAX LEVY: Yes

INCOME TAXES: DEDUCTIONS: PUNITIVE DAMAGES

Repeals authority to deduct punitive damages on personal and corporate tax filings.

Background and Existing Law

Current law authorizes individuals and corporations to file tax deductions for the payment of monetary damages in legal cases. Under existing law plaintiffs can seek "punitive" or "exemplary" damages in legal cases where the defendant is guilty of "oppression, fraud, or malice." "Malice" means conduct which is intended by the defendant to cause injury or despicable conduct that is carried on with a willful and conscious disregard of the rights or safety of others. "Oppression" means despicable conduct that subjects a person to cruel and unjust hardship in conscious disregard of that person's rights. "Fraud" means an intentional misrepresentation, deceit, or concealment of a material fact known to the defendant with the intention on the part of the defendant of thereby depriving a person of property or legal rights or otherwise causing injury.

California courts hold that punitive damages punish the defendant and deter similar conduct. The goal of deterrence of similar conduct is both for the specific defendant who may repeat or continue offensive behavior and to other potential parties who may commit similar offenses. Punitive damages are not intended to compensate a plaintiff unlike compensatory damages, which are intended for compensation.

The Book of Approved Jury Instructions (BAJI) provides that a jury should consider two factors to determine the amount of punitive damages to award:

- The reprehensibility of the defendant's conduct.
- The amount of punitive damages, which will have a deterrent effect on the defendant in the light of defendant's financial condition.

In addition, a defendant may ask that a jury be instructed to consider that the punitive damages bear a reasonable relation to the injury, harm, or damage actually suffered by the plaintiff.

Tax deductions are generally used to encourage certain behaviors. State law allows taxpayers to deduct ordinary and necessary business expenses incurred in trade or business. Firms that pay punitive damages can deduct those damages as an ordinary and necessary business expense.

California has never affirmatively adopted the policy of allowing punitive damages to be tax deductible as a normal and necessary cost of doing business. Instead, California conforms to the federal rule allowing deductions for ordinary and necessary business expenses (26 U.S.C. §162(f)). The federal deduction is also not found in the U.S. Internal Revenue Code. Instead, it is the result of a 1980 IRS administrative ruling (Rev. Rul. 80-211, 1980-2 C.B. 570).

Proposed Law

Assembly Bill 458 prohibits, on or after January 1, 2014, taxpayers from claiming a deduction for amounts paid for punitive damages.

AB 458 provides that no deduction shall be allowed for any amount paid or incurred for punitive damages in connection with any judgment in, or settlement of, any action.

AB 458 applies to taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2014 and takes effect immediately as a tax levy.

State Revenue Impact

The Franchise Tax Board estimates revenue gains of $400,000 in 2013-14, $1 million in 2014-15, and $1.1 million in 2015-16.

Comments

1. Purpose of the bill. The purpose of punitive damage penalties is to punish and deter egregious misconduct committed with malice, oppression and fraud. This is a higher standard than normal civil liability. According to the author, "Punitive damages should not be tax-deductible as ordinary nor necessary business expenses; they are not like salaries, equipment or operating expenses. They are financial penalties that are intended to serve the same purpose as criminal fines and statutory penalties, which are not deductible." By removing the tax deduction currently allowed for punitive damages paid, AB 458 treats punitive damages differently from ordinary and necessary business expenses and aligns them with the intent of the penalty.

2. Cost of doing business. Punitive damage awards can vary significantly. Expensive judgments can be difficult for businesses to plan for, and a tax deduction provides financial relief. One example of a costly California punitive damage award in 2012 includes UPS. In Michael Marlo v. United Parcel Service, Inc., UPS paid approximately $16 million dollars in punitive damages for a wrongful termination/retaliation judgment. There are other costs to a business that do not get priced into a punitive damage award. An additional expense is the costs associated with disclosure. Companies usually have to disclose punitive damage judgments which can negatively affect their share price and/or overall enterprise value. Opponents of AB 458 argue that requiring a business to pay an unbudgeted judgment amount could drive up the cost of business, negatively affecting the economy and increasing the cost of goods and services to consumers.

3. Tax Aware Jurors. When juries and judges award punitive damages there is no evidence that they do so with knowledge that punitive damages incurred can be tax deductible. Thus, some defendants are not punished to the degree that the jury intends. In the University of Virginia Law Journal article Taxing Punitive Damages authors Gregg D. Polsky and Dan Markel argue that there are two ways to solve that problem. First, the law may be changed to match juror expectations by making punitive damages nondeductible, which is what AB 458 would do in California. Second, you can change the understanding of a juror to include tax awareness. Polsky and Markel argue:

“Tax-aware juries would adjust the amount of punitive damages to impose the desired after-tax cost on the defendant... tax awareness would best solve the under punishment problem even though it does come at the cost of enlarging plaintiff windfalls. However, given the defendant-focused features of current punitive damages doctrine, this cost is not particularly troubling.”

Tax aware jurors may provide an alternative to AB 458. Should the committee wish to explore this further, and consider requiring that jurors are provided with instructions including the tax deductibility of punitive damages in addition or as an alternative to AB 458, AB 458 should be referred back to Rules Committee for consideration by the appropriate Committee.

4. Try Again. Assembly Bill 458 replicates AB 1276 (Feuer, 2011), which prohibited a deduction for amounts paid or incurred for punitive damages for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2012. AB 1276 failed passage on the Assembly Floor (50-26).

5. Tax increase. Legislative Counsel has assigned a 2/3 vote key to SB 458, as the measure may lead to a tax increase on any taxpayer under Section Three of Article XIII A of the California Constitution.

Unique

GEORGETOWN LAW

Combining a world-renowned faculty, a dedication to intellectual stimulation and community, and a location in the heart of the nation's capital, Georgetown is a unique place to study law.

Legal Education in Its Fullest Sense

Georgetown Law seeks not only to impart the tools of the lawyer's trade, but also to foster reflection and inquiry into the nature of law and the role and responsibility of lawyers in a global society. The goal is education in its fullest sense — not only mastery of "black letter law," but a sense of the philosophical, political, social and ethical dimensions of law, the awakening of an abiding curiosity about its nature and purposes, and the instilling of a sense of responsibility, development and direction.

A Dynamic Intellectual Community

Georgetown nurtures the very highest standards of scholarly inquiry, intellectual rigor and behavior in a way that respects each student's individuality and fosters his or her particular interests and career goals. The result is a dynamic intellectual community, in which students enjoy an unprecedented range of academic opportunities both inside and outside the classroom.

An unparalleled Vantage Point

Located in Washington, D.C., within blocks of the U.S. Congress that enacts laws, the School

"What law school in the country is better positioned to deal with the way the profession is going than Georgetown? We have connections to the corporate bar and criminal justice, and we have extensive clinics. We have been oriented to government and politics for decades. Wherever the legal market is going, what law school has more beachheads there than we do? This is a good place to be."

Austin wants to be sheriff

Look out Tom Tramel, there may be a future sheriff in town.

Five-year-old George Jarvis Austin attends the Kindergarten Center and he wants to be a police officer or a sheriff when he grows up.

Son of Charlotte Hall-Austin, George has begun his school career with a positive attitude. "George is an enthusiastic learner and he is a well-liked and caring person," says one of his teachers.

His interests include T-ball and books, especially the Berenstein Bears series.

According to Principal Earl Watts, "George is a very smart child. He is totally involved in all classroom activities and loves school. With George's ability, I think he can accomplish his goals in life."
